One day Margareth suddenly leaves London and with it, everything and everybody she has ever known behind. Nobody knows where she's gone. Margareth speeds off, catching the tube as far south in London as is possible.

Underneath the motorway in Morden, she's just waiting for the right lift to take her South. Whilst there by the roadside, she makes a start at her new life. It's the perfect moment, to leave her old self behind and to become the person she always dreamt she could be.

Morden is a London Underground station in the London Borough of Merton. Train frequencies vary throughout the day.

The last tube going north at night, has already left. Nobody knows where Margareth is.

It's the perfect plan.

A solo theatre clown drama for adults, on mental health - taking a risk, and the joys and challenges of changing your life.

Mostly suitable for an adult audience and ages 14+. Running time: 1 hour

Written and played by: Freya Stang

Director: Jonathan Young

Sound design: Didier Peigle
